

WHEN the Germans occupied France in 1940, a young schoolgirl, Marie Bonnet, earned the contempt of her friends by appearing to be too friendly with the Germans. Unknown to everyone, Marie was really a daring resister known as—The Cat! One day, The Cat was called to the home of another Resistance man, Henri.

CATCH the CAT!

The Cat made her way across the rooftops of the town.

And, in the Commandant's office—

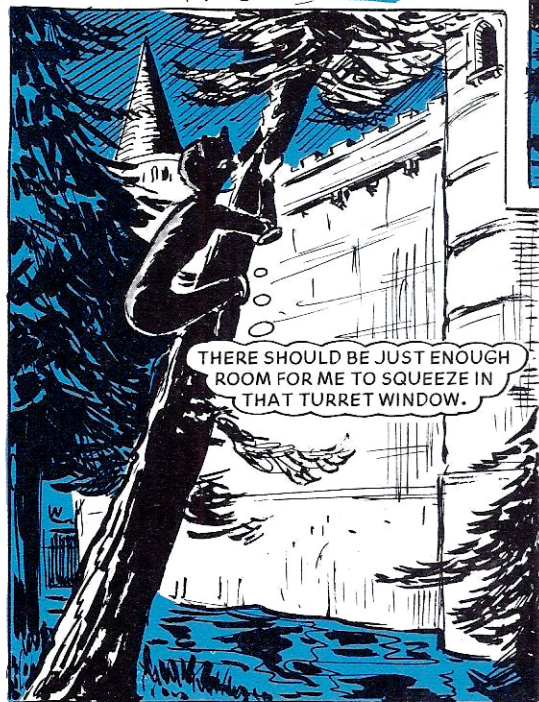

I MUST HURRY IF I AM TO RECOVER THE FILE BEFORE DAYLIGHT.

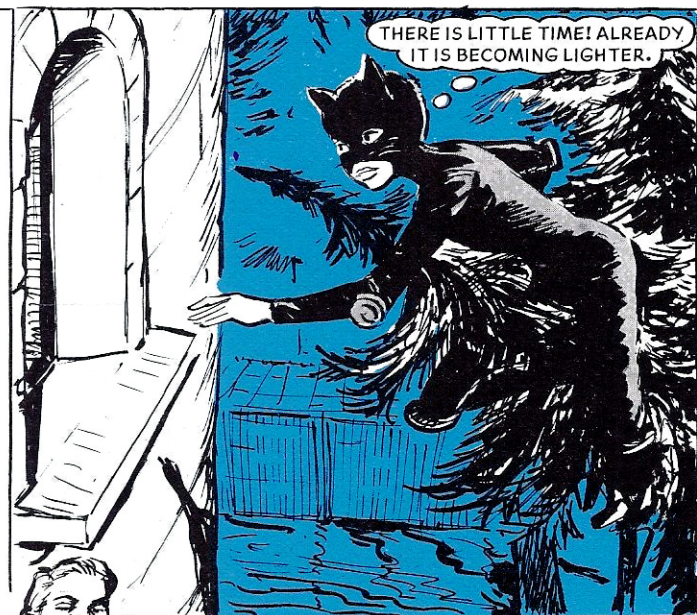

The Commandant lived in a chateau outside the town.

I CANNOT PASS THE SENTRIES. I MUST FIND ANOTHER WAY IN!

THERE SHOULD BE JUST ENOUGH ROOM FOR ME TO SQUEEZE IN THAT TURRET WINDOW.

THERE IS LITTLE TIME! ALREADY IT IS BECOMING LIGHTER.

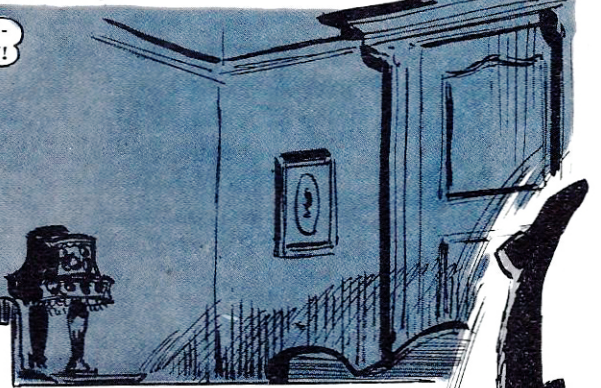

Inside, the Commandant was awake.

THE FILE WILL BE ON THE MORNING TRAIN TO BERLIN, MY FRIENDS! THEY WILL ACT QUICKLY, AND BY EVENING THE RESISTANCE PEOPLE IN THIS TOWN WILL BE WIPED OUT!

YOU HAVE DONE WELL, COMMANDANT.

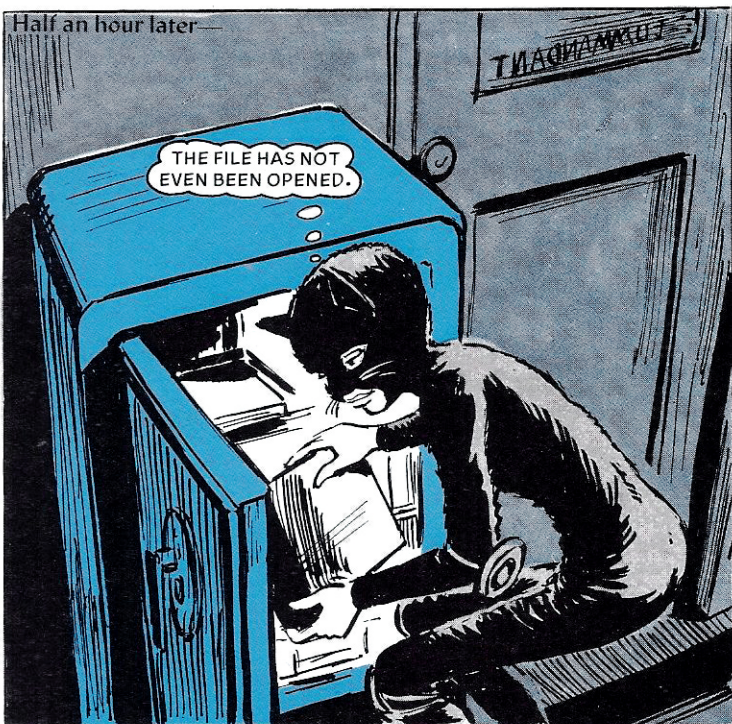

And—

At dawn, The Cat made her way back to meet Henri—

Half an hour later—

At home—
